

CHAMPIONSHIP GOES TO MILLIKIN

Illinois Played In Hard Luck At Decatur

Crowd of Three Thousand Saw Grid-Iron Contest Which Resulted in Score of 27 to 0—Figures Give Wrong Idea of Team Strength—Millikin Superior in Open Field Running.

Outlooked but not outplayed nor outplayed Illinois College lost the "Little Nineteen" football championship to Millikin at Decatur Saturday afternoon by a score of 27 to 0 before a crowd estimated at 3,000 people.

The score does not show the relative strength of the two teams. One who did not see the game would think that Millikin walked all over Illinois. However, this was not true. The teams were evenly matched and in only one department did Millikin excel Illinois and that was in the work of the back field. Johnson, John MacWhorter and Killibrew were extremely fast and it was their work that made the large score in the last quarter.

Illinois was handicapped in her backfield work by Wilson's bad ankle. Time and again Wilson dodged and fought his way thru the Millikin line and secondary defense only to be overhauled by a tackler from behind because he could not get up his usual speed.

Forecasting Uncertain Thing. The game demonstrated one thing. That is that no one can forecast a team's play with any certainty. For several weeks while Millikin and Illinois were winning sport writers and experts were predicting the style of play the teams would use in the contest of yesterday. They also tried to show in which style of play the teams were superior.

In nearly every instance Illinois was given credit for being better at hitting the line while Millikin was given the edge in open field running and forward passing. The contest Saturday upset considerable of this.

Millikin proved superior in open field running and running back punts. However, Illinois excelled in line plugging and also in forward passing. For the first time this season Harmon's men opened up in the passing game and made many gains. But for a miss by Frisbie of a pass which he took behind Millikin's goal line the score would have been tied in the third quarter and the game perhaps won.

Millikin had more continued luck than any football team we have ever seen in action. Time and again they fumbled the ball only to recover it for a gain. Illinois only regained the ball once after fumbling it.

In our opinion the score should have been 7 to 0 in favor of Millikin with each team playing the football it is capable of playing and no luck injected. Killibrew's touchdown was the only one made without a fluke and three tacklers missed whom it looked should have downed him before he got under headway.

The First Touchdown. Millikin's first touchdown came in the first quarter when a punt was blocked and McCown fell on the ball back of the goal line. The game was hard fought and even then until the third quarter.

SHIPWRECKED CREW ARRIVES IN SPAIN

American Sailors Safe At Corunna, Which Port They Reach In Life Boats.

London, Nov. 11.—The crew of the American steamship Columbian, which was wrecked off the coast of Spain, arrived at Corunna, Spain, in lifeboats, says a Reuters dispatch from Madrid.

It was reported here on Wednesday that the Columbian was sending out wireless calls for help, saying she was being shelled by a submarine. The calls were picked up by admiralty stations. Nothing further, however, had been heard of the Columbian until tonight's statement from Lloyds agency.

The Columbian is under American registry and sailed from New York October 18th and Boston October 21st bound from Genoa. She was reported as touching at St. Nazaire, France, on November 2, leaving that port the next day for Italy. The Columbian is owned by the American-Louisiana Steamship Company, of New York, and was built in San Francisco in 1917. The vessel carried no passengers, but had a crew of about 113 officers and men. She was under charter by the France and Canada Steamship Company with offices in New York.

WELL KNOWN AUTHOR TO VISIT JACKSONVILLE

Prof. Otto Heller, of Washington University Will Speak at David Strawn Memorial on Bernard Shaw.

Prof. Otto Heller, well known as an author and literary critic, will visit Jacksonville Wednesday, December 13, and will speak the same evening at the David Strawn Memorial building, taking as his theme, "The Convictions of George Bernard Shaw." Prof. Heller is head of the department of German literature at Washington University, St. Louis, and is in great demand as a lecturer. Prof. Heller is the author of "Henrik Ibsen, Plays and Problems," as well as a number of other literary studies and scholarly works.

To many, the attitude of George Bernard Shaw, English essayist and dramatist, has since the outbreak of the great war in Europe, been difficult to comprehend. He has seemed the only Englishman of sufficient daring to criticize England in her time of stress. His striking conceptions of civilized standards and his keen denunciation of existing evils have been expressed with such freedom and candor that many have classed him among the prophets of the present age. Others, tired of his egotism and weary of his satire and paradox, have called him a potent influence for evil. None have found it possible to ignore Mr. Shaw and the German scholar's evaluation of the English philosopher is interesting in the extreme.

Prof. Heller will come to Jacksonville under auspices of the Drama League. The place of meeting was fixed upon after the Jacksonville Art Association had given an invitation to use the Memorial building.

ENORMOUS EXPORTS OF WAR SUPPLIES

Exports of War Materials Shown to Be 22 Per Cent of Country's Total Export Trade.

New York, Nov. 11.—Exports of war supplies for the nine months ending September 30, amounted to $97,970,000, or more than 25 per cent of the country's total export trade for the period, according to figures published here today by the Journal of Commerce.

The value of explosives sent to belligerents was more than half a billion dollars, and automobiles, horses and mules, metal, working machinery and wire ranked next in that order.

According to a table published covering war supply exports since the movement began in January, 1915, their value for the twenty-two months was $1,617,845,000, or about 22 per cent of the country's total exports. More war supplies were sent abroad during the first nine months of this year than throughout 1915.

VIOLENT FIGHTING AGAIN IN PROGRESS

No Great Change in Positions of Armies Reported

On Somme Front Franco-British and German Forces Show Greater Activity—Russians and Rumanians Continue Advance in Dobruja.

Violent fighting is in progress again at various points on the eastern and western fronts, but no great change in the positions of the opposing armies has yet been reported.

Fair weather on the Somme front in northern France has brought more vigorous activity by the Franco-British and German forces. Great Britain's men in an attack in the Thiepval-Coucouette area London relays have taken the eastern part of the Regina trenches on a front of 1,000 yards. The other portion of this trench was taken on October 21. Berlin admits a British gain northeast of Coucouette but says only a small portion of an advanced trench was entered.

Crown Prince Rupprecht failed in an attack against the French lines in the neighborhood of Denicourt, south of the Somme, Paris records. On the other hand Britain states that a French attack in the Sallieres sector was repulsed. In aerial combats on the western front the German brought down ten entente planes and the French put five Germans out of commission. The Austro-Germans and Russians continue to fight furiously in the Baranovichi region north of the Pink Marshes and along the Natrawski southeast of Lemberg in Galicia. Petrograd says that parts of trenches near Skrobowa, northeast of Baranovichi, taken by the Germans have been re-captured by the Russians, but Berlin asserts all attacks in that sector were repulsed.

On the Narayuka front the Germans Berlin claims, entered a Russian position and held it against five counter attacks. Petrograd, however, says German attacks in region were repulsed and the attacks effected from a portion of a trench which had been occupied.

The Russians and Rumanians advance in Dobruja toward the Tchernavoda-Constanza Railway lines continues. Petrograd reports occupation of two more towns along the Danube near Hysrova and Technavoda. A belated official report from Sofia admits entente success, but between Kustrop no change in the area under Field Marshal Von Mackensen's control. Unofficially it is reported Von Mackensen has been driven back to the railway lines.

Both the Austro-Germans and Rumanians claim success along the Transylvanian-Rumanian frontier. South of Predeal, Berlin records an advance for Archduke Charles, while Bucharest claims the capture of a trench near Dragoslavia and of Mount Furtzile on the left bank of the Alt river.

Official reports indicate a renewal of activity on the Macedonian front in the area north of the Crea river. In the region south of Polog, Berlin says entente troops have gained ground.

GUARDSMEN WILL NOT BE PERMITTED TO LEAVE

Must Stay in Government Service As Long as Need Exists According to New Instructions Sent Out by Secretary Baker.

San Antonio, Tex., Nov. 11.—National guardsmen are not to be discharged from the federal service for any reason other than the "interests of the government," according to new instructions from Secretary of War Baker. It was admitted by officials here tonight that this ruling practically closes the door to members of the national guard who are desirous of leaving the service.

The information was also given that it was impossible for the war department to say definitely when the new men now on the border would be returned to their home stations.

Included in the order was the explanation that "the granting of all the numerous applications of business and professional men for discharge from the national guard would disorganize many militia units and seriously impair the efficiency of the service, and favorable action on any individual application would be a manifest discrimination against many other soldiers similarly circumstanced and equally deserving of favorable consideration."

STILL PLAN FOR COW TESTING

The effort to organize a cow testing association in Morgan county has not been given up although there has been some delay in the work. When a meeting of dairymen and others interested was held here recently there were not enough signatures to the agreement to warrant the University of Illinois in organizing an association here. It was explained at the time that it was not necessary to have all the members immediately in the vicinity of Jacksonville.

If they were not so far removed that the dealer representing the association could reach them in a day's time. Consequently an effort has been made to interest dairymen in several nearby towns and the indication is that a little later on the association will be a reality.

INTERNATIONAL SPY HELD BY U. S. AGENTS

Karl Graves Arrested on Blackmailing Charge

Accused of Attempting to Extort $3,000 From Countess Von Bernstorff, Wife of German Ambassador—Also Has Official Despatches From German Government.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Karl A. Graves a self styled international spy and magazine writer, was arrested here today by agents of the department of justice and charged with attempting to extort $3,000 from Countess Von Bernstorff, wife of the German ambassador, by threatening to publish letters "alleged to contain matter showing her indiscretions and failings." Officials of the embassy also allege Graves had in his possession what apparently were confidential dispatches from the German government to Count Von Bernstorff. The prisoner told the federal agents he obtained all the documents from persons who smuggled them past the British censors on the steamship Oscar II. The warrant upon which he was arrested tonight and held on $2,000 bail for further hearing Wednesday, charges him also with bringing into the District of Columbia letters stolen in Hoboken, N. J., where the Oscar II docks.

In a statement after his arraignment, at which he entered a plea of not guilty, Graves asserted he had no intention of blackmailing the countess, that he objected to the use of the word blackmail, and that the papers he had in his possession were "purely diplomatic."

Are Avoiding Censorship?

Much interest was aroused in official quarters at the indirect exposure of the matter in his possession and that officials in Germany apparently are avoiding the British censorship in communicating with the German embassy here.

COMMENT SYMPATHETIC TO PRESIDENT WILSON

French Newspapers, While Favoring President, Have Expressed Little Opinion Regarding Election.

Paris, Nov. 11.—The newspapers, while printing the news of the American election in a prominent position, express little opinion as to the result. What comment there is is sympathetic to President Wilson.

The Petit Journal says: "President Wilson's victory is highly satisfactory to us for two reasons. The first is that for four years American policies will be free from all electoral considerations; the second reason is that the result of the election must put new life into American neutrality. Evidently an immense majority of the electorate pronounced against war, but apart from the millions of voters who approved the vigor with which the president forced the Germans to cede on the submarine war questions, other millions voted for Hughes because he demanded an even firmer defense of American rights. The chief executive is obliged to take into account this double wish. Just as Hughes could not have ignored the verdict against war, so Wilson must take into consideration the condemnation of a line of policy which Roosevelt has characterized as 'backboneless.'"

RAY PFANSCHMIDT WILL NOT BE TRIED

Charge of Being Leader of Auto Thieves May Be Dismissed Because of Missing Witnesses.

Quincy, Ill., Nov. 11.—Ray A. Pfanschmidt, who was cleared of a quadruple murder charge in this county in 1913, after an appeal to the supreme court and three separate trials, and who was later arrested in Wichita, Kan., on a charge of being the leader of a gang of automobile thieves, will not be tried in Quincy because one of the state's important witnesses is missing, according to word received here.

Pfanschmidt, who at his first trial was sentenced to die, and was saved by a decision of the supreme court, left here for Wichita soon after he was acquitted.

ENDS LIFE AS RESULT OF ELECTION SUSPENSE

Lovilla, Iowa, Nov. 11.—Suspense over the presidential election is believed to have caused William Ambers of this city, a salesman, to end his life. Ambers, who was 50 years old, hanged himself in a barn early today and relatives say he had been worrying as to whether California would go to Wilson or Hughes.

OTTAWA MAN IS IMPROVING.

Pittsburg, Nov. 11.—Every yard and sidetrack on the Pennsylvania lines between Pittsburg and Chicago will be visited within the next few days by an army of investigators in an effort to establish the cause of the car shortage and to return foreign cars to their home lines. They will take the name and number of each car being detained and why, reporting at frequent intervals to J. W. Roberts, superintendent of transportation, under whose direction the investigation is being made.

JURY FIND LIQUOR WAS CAUSE OF DEATH

Elmer Flynn, who Met Death Under Wheels of C. B. & Q. Train, Had Visited Saloon at Arenzville With Companion — Inquest Saturday

The coroner's jury, which sat Saturday morning at the undertaking establishment of J. G. Reynolds to inquire into the cause of the death of Elmer Flynn Thursday evening, found that the young man came to his death as a result of a visit which he and his companion, J. C. Cull, had paid the afternoon before to a saloon at Arenzville.

Mr. Cull, who was first called to the stand, testified that both had left Chapin early Thursday morning and after reaching Arenzville had become intoxicated, purchasing a quantity of whiskey to take back with them. They went to Concord by train and started then to walk to Chapin. Cull could remember little after that and after arising from a sleep by the side of the track, told trainmen that the man who was with him had gone on to Chapin. It is believed that Flynn fell flat on the track and in that position was struck by the train.

George F. Murphy, C. B. & Q. conductor, was called to the stand and his testimony confirmed the theory that the man had been run over by the train while in a drunken sleep on the track.

The witnesses were examined by Deputy Coroner Reynolds. The jury was composed of Peter Tilton, foreman; F. L. Haigrover, John M. Carroll, M. L. Branstetter, Thomas Stevenson and Robert Dick.

The remains were sent Saturday to St. Sterling for the funeral and for burial.

President on Way to Washington Witnesses Celebration at Troy and Albany.

On Board President Wilson Special, Albany, N. Y., Nov. 11.—President Wilson returning to Washington for the first time in two months tonight witnessed a demonstration at Troy and Albany in celebration of his outcome of the election. Taking for granted that he had been elected president at both places, Cady led him again and again. "The president laughed and smiled and thanked them for their congratulations. Here at Albany a procession, including bands, was arranged in his honor, the railroad station was crowded and many persons rushed forward to shake President Wilson's hand.

As President Wilson's train rolled into Albany, torpedoes exploded on the tracks and locomotive whistles shrieked. For a moment the president held his hands to his ears. Before the president arrived the crowd had paraded down the business section of the city. President Wilson the outcome of the election. Taking Troy, "We're with you for four more years of peace and prosperity" shouted one man. "Thank you," replied the president. "How's Andy Sawyer?" asked another. "Fine," responded President Wilson.

One of Gen. Pershing's Scouts Still Held Prisoner at Juarez as Villa Spy.

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 11.—The matter of the release of Benjamin Brahan, one of Gen. Pershing's scouts held in Juarez as a Villa spy was taken up with Gen. Both Brahan and Joseph Williams a member of the Mormon colony at Colonia Dublan, accused of having been caught with stolen cattle would be released, he said, if no case was found against his life.

He is said to have held a commission in the Villa army. Wm. Ward, General Pershing's intelligence officer in Mexico is here making an effort to have the scout released. DISCUSS UNITED RELIEF WORK PLAN

Springfield Woman Addresses Woman's Clubs

Miss Bergen, Russell Sage Foundation Expert Told Jacksonville People of Co-operative System Used Elsewhere — Mr. Magill Calling for Later Address.

The meeting of the Woman's club Saturday was of more than usual interest and it is hoped that as a result of the subjects considered and the discussion which followed, that there may come about a more united effort in the handling of Jacksonville's charity and relief work. The program had been arranged by the social service committee of the Woman's club and Mrs. David Reid presided.

After a brief preliminary statement by the chairman, Mr. W. E. Kitch and Mr. Edward Munger of the Conservatory faculty gave a very delightful piano and violin number, Barcarolle and Humoresque from the suite for piano and violin by York Bowen. The music committee members considered themselves especially fortunate in securing this generous and artistic contribution to the program. Miss Margaret Bergen of Springfield was the speaker of the afternoon and her theme was "Co-operative Plans for Charity Work." Miss Bergen is the superintendent of the united charities in Springfield and is a Russell Sage foundation expert.

Co-operative Work in Springfield

Miss Bergen's address was along the lines of her experience and she stated that she was not given to frequent public speaking but rather her work had been in the discussion and carrying out of plans for relief. In Springfield all officers and organizations whose duties include the relief of poverty or social work of that class are united into one organized committee. Meetings are held at least once a week and it has been found that by co-operative work far better results can be secured, not only for temporary relief but also in getting at causes. Miss Bergen in the early part of her address referred to hospitality as a characteristic of the earlier races and went on to show that this characteristic is in reality a willing up of the generous impulses which in latter days have resulted in organized individual relief work.

The speaker has spent a year in Hawaii organizing work there and said that she had found it characteristic of the Hawaiian people to alleviate suffering and to give wherever real need for giving came. The same traits are found in the various peoples of the South Sea Islands and Miss Bergen said that of the Caucasian race might hope that the same traits had been carried down to the present day and developed along the best lines.

Tracing the Charity Spirit

A Moorish story is told of a Moor who owned a beautiful horse and the poor he refused to sell it. The would-be buyer then conceived the plan of feigning that he had been robbed and injured by highwaymen and placed himself so that the owner of the horse he coveted would pass that way. The plan worked successfully and he soon found himself mounted upon the horse and when he had gone a short distance he ripped off the disguise and revealed to his benefactor who he was and the purpose he had, for with possession of the horse he had won. The point to the story, of course, was to illustrate the charity of even the Moorish people, and this was brought out further in the expressed wish of the Moor that the man who had outwitted him tell no one because by such telling he might do injury to the spirit of charity which wells up in each man's heart.

It was a tribute to Jacksonville people that one of the speakers made at the Woman's club meeting Saturday when it was declared that in a great majority of instances the cause of destitution can be traced to ill health. Causes of this kind can be reached much more readily and effectively than in those cases where depravity is the underlying reason.

The returns from the election as they come straggling in seem to have removed one criticism frequently leveled at President Wilson, that he is a minority president. In 1912 his total popular vote was very much less than the combined vote of Roosevelt and Taft, but the 1916 figures indicate that Mr. Wilson has a majority of the popular vote as well as the electoral vote. Now when they say that Mr. Wilson is not the people's choice, he will proudly refer to the election statistics.

Congressman Claug Tavener of the fourteenth district failed of re-election. We shall greatly miss receiving copies of the congressman's speeches which, even if they were never delivered, appeared in the congressional record. The congressman, who evidently believes in publicity, faithfully sent copies broadcast throughout the U. S. He devoted less time to opposing increased naval strength and other preparedness measures, Mr. Tavener would probably now find himself re-elected.

The vote on congressman in Morgan county suggests that if the Republicans had really been alive to the situation they might have had a representative in congress from this district, normally so heavily Democratic. In Morgan county, with no effort made at all, Walter B. Saylor received a majority of thirty one, his vote being 4,063 to 4,032 cast for Mr. Rainey. Had an organized plan been followed this majority for Mr. Saylor could have been made much larger and a gum shoe campaign throughout the other counties of the district would have given the Democrats a big surprise.

"Pays to Advertise" in Politics.

The election, it is said, furnishes further proof of the often quoted and truthful saying, "It pays to advertise." East of the Mississippi the Republican campaign managers had the better of the advertising and there came the Hughes strength. West of the Mississippi the Democrats paid more attention to publicity and you know the result. Several weeks ago the Republican national senatorial committee sensed that the situation was dangerous, and summoning a lot of wealthy eastern Republicans they speedily raised a fund of $250,000 for an advertising campaign. In the districts where this advertising was done they had results and their only trouble was that they did not see the danger earlier and spend half a million in their advertising work. It's another case of "It might have been."

The Lowden Vote.

Governor-Elect Lowden certainly has reason to be pleased with the vote given him in Morgan county, sometimes listed as Democratic. Colonel Lowden's majority, according to the official canvass, was 1,096. Certainly the voters of Morgan county have expressed their confidence in the nominee and their expectation that he will give Illinois a high class administration. The best way to judge of the future of public officials is by their records, and with this as a basis of estimate there was good reason for Colonel Lowden's complimentary Morgan county vote.

The Advantage of United Effort.

The program of the Woman's club yesterday was for the special purpose of inaugurating a movement for united effort in relief work here in Jacksonville. The study of poverty and destitution is a development of the times and those who pay attention to social and economic questions know full well the need of studying the causes of poverty as well as seeking to give relief. If the charitably inclined devote themselves solely to the work of present relief, giving aid to those they find in want, such action will tend to increase poverty and the number of dependents rather than to diminish it.

So relief work has come to be a science of itself, and because it is done on business and scientific principles does not mean that there is no real charity or heart interest in the work. In fact, the contrary is true. It is much more arduous to study poverty and then apply the relief that seems best suited than it is to give indiscriminately and to seek to furnish relief without a knowledge of causes.

With all the individuals and organizations in Jacksonville whose purpose is to bring relief to the needy working along common lines, and each with the knowledge of what the other is doing, genuine relief and helpfulness can be given. Such a policy followed here and in every other city, and with other reforms which should go hand in hand with such a policy, it is not too much to expect that some day the need for organized charity work will almost disappear. Co-operative effort is the key to the situation—the means whereby relief work can be done most economically, most generously, most efficiently and with the greatest good to the greatest number. The plan should be followed in this city.

Press Fair to Wilson.

The comments of Republican papers since the re-election of President Wilson has been known have for the most part been free from bitterness and rather marked by a spirit of loyalty and fairness. The editorials give certain proof that while citizens of this country are divided sharply on party issues, that when they come to broader principles which virtually concern the welfare of the country, then they are citizens of one country, under one flag and very ready to swear their allegiance to one president.

The Chicago Post was a strong advocate of the candidacy of Mr. Hughes and that paper's comment, in part, follows on President Wilson's re-election, gives a fair idea of the somewhat generous and broad-minded spirit which the Republican press in most instances has shown: "Unless recounts shall overset the results of the votes in the close states Woodrow Wilson is re-elected president of the United States."

The post refuses to take this apparent fact either as a reflection upon the courage of the country or as a sign that it is to go to the dogs in the next four years.

"It sees clearly Woodrow Wilson's faults of character and regrets them. But it looks back upon the crises like the McLenore and O'Leary incidents, where he has stood for a real Americanism, and it has a confidence that he will again stand firm should a similar crisis come. It believes, too, that Mr. Wilson has obtained the passage of much legislation of a progressive character that is a credit to him and to the country, whether or not strict liberals regard it as wholly sincere."

"Nor do we accept in good part the election of Mr. Wilson simply upon the record of the past. There is good reason to expect that he will meet by his future action some of the unanswerable criticisms which have been leveled against him in this campaign.

"In the first place, we have Mr. Wilson's formal promise that he will carry thru congress the rest of the program upon which he asked congress to redeem its surrender to the Adamson bill.

"Secondly, we already have had from Washington hints that Daniels and Baker and Redfield are to be eliminated from the cabinet.

"Thirdly, his latest tariff bill, backed by his constant hints in recent speeches, give good reason to believe that he may be brought to give the country what would be in effect a protective after-the-war tariff."

Rippling Rhymes

By WALT MASON

Dreams.

I hope some day to write a song that will astonish all the throng on this old planet groping; but meanwhile, since I have to buy the children lids and shoes and pie, I'll take it out in hoping. I often think if I had time to put my best into a rhyme, John Milton would look faded; but writing doggerel that pays takes up the passing hours and days, and keeps me worn and faded. I don't suppose I'll ever pen the ode that will astonish men, and bring me Shakespeare's laurels; and as of old my ink shall flow, expounding lessons all men know, and bargain counter morals. But when all day I've lured and lured, until I'm frazzled out and tired, it's pleasant to sit dreaming of that far day when I shall write an ode so full of force and light, the critics will be screaming. And thus your dream is soothing you, tho you may know it won't come true, this side the river Jordan; it's good to have some kind of goal; and so, for duds and grub and coal, you struggle on accordin'.

God's Country and the Woman

Greater Vitagraph Feature of Super Merit
IN NINE ACTS

Thrills, Love and Pathos Aplenty in Celluloid Classic

Photoplay Was Filmed in the Hills of Southern California—Actors Reach Mountain Top Location of 9000 Feet by Dog Train.

"God's Country and the Woman" is a greater Vitagraph feature that is bound to take its place among the greatest motion picture plays yet produced. It is a nine reeler and was photographed in the deep snows of Great Bear Valley, up in the San Bernardino mountains of Southern California.

A DRAMATIC STORY

Bear Valley is 9,000 feet above sea level and is reached by a dog road over which Rollin S. Steurgeon and his Vitagraph players journeyed to camp for six months while filming this photoplay which has to do with the law of virtue in the great Northwest.

William Duncan, George Holt and Neil Shipman are the principals who enact the drama of a girl whose mother is overpowered by a villain and gives birth to a child in the absence of her husband. The daughter comes bravely to the front to assume the responsibility of the motherhood. To preserve her own honor, the girl, just before her father returns, writes him that she is going to the North Woods to meet her "husband." The ruse works well, for a young man drifting down stream on a homeward journey from the wilds beaches his canoe near the girl's shelter; and falls in love with her.

THE HERO CLAIMED HIS OWN.

She prevails upon him through his great love for her to pose as her husband, and they go back home together to protect the good name of the mother. A marriage ceremony is performed, but they live in separate rooms in a frontier home, until finally the baby dies and the villain, who all the while is trying to get possession of the girl, is devoured by a pack of sledge dogs who trail him down after a sensational battle in which the arch-conspirator and his fellow outlaws in "Devil's Nest" are vanquished and the girl who has been made captive is freed by her sweetheart. There after, in the glow of the burning rendezvous, the hero takes the girl to his heart as wife in fact as well as name, for in the passing ordeals the violation of the mother becomes known to him and his bride becomes free to claim his love. Dog trains going full tilt up hill and down and a series of great human adventures holding together in perfect cohesion a wonderful story, make "God's Country and the Woman" a film masterpiece.

ART ASSOCIATION HAS AN HONORED HISTORY

Organized Forty-Two Years Ago It Was the Progenitor of the Art Union of Central Illinois.

The Art Association of Jacksonville was organized May 22, 1875 and for many years the work of the charter members was well rewarded. The annual art exhibitions were very popular, very instructive, and anticipated as the social event of the year. From the exposition grew the Central Art Union of Central Illinois. These facts, together with other matters of historical interest, have been recalled in connection with the reception, to which all lovers of art, and their friends have been invited by the directors of the association. As previously announced the reception will be given at the David Strawn Memorial, 231 West College Avenue, Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

The beautiful home has been fitted up for the reception of the Art Association's treasures, paintings, autotypes, and portfolios of the old masters' work, a collection that took many years to gather.

Among the presidents are some honored names, Mrs. Brown, the first president, Mrs. Stearns, Mr. A. T. Van Lear of Litchfield, Ct., an artist of fine reputation and Prof. William Patterson, a popular lecturer on art in Chicago, and for many years associated with the art institute after he left Jacksonville.

With the generous gift of this spacious Strawn mansion so long the home of Mrs. Phoebe Strawn, the patron of all that was good and faithful and true, henceforth to be known as the David Strawn Memorial, the Art Association enters again upon a most promising future, and wishes to welcome there on Monday evening, Nov. 13, all who are interested in art in its educational and philanthropic possibilities.

DISCUSS UNITED RELIEF WORK PLAN

day show that it is 50 per cent. In other words, we have gone back to the drunkenness in many cases and have found the cause which led to that indulgence in liquors.

Finding the Cause.

"The modern method of social service, therefore, is to find the cause of poverty and we attack it also from the positive side. That you are finding something in this line yourselves is shown in the report of your open air school which I heard presented in Springfield yesterday at the anti-tuberculosis convention. The larger the city the greater is the demand for relief. In Springfield we have sought to bring together all the individuals and agencies whose duties carry them into relief work. We have found first of all that getting acquainted in itself beneficial. It was Charles Mann who once said that he did not like a certain man, but he was sure that the reason was because he did not know him. So we all find that by getting acquainted we help each other and understand conditions better.

"This general committee or league acts in harmony and the purpose is to use the best methods and to give, if possible, the relief which will aid in some sort of a permanent way. When it is reported, for example, by a school teacher or officer, that some child needs a pair of shoes our case committee investigates and almost always finds that it is not merely shoes that are needed, but that there are conditions which must be met and remedied if the condition of that family is at all permanently improved. The purpose of our case committee is not simply to prevent the overdoing of relief work—that is, duplicating gifts or donations—but to carry out that very thought of finding the cause of the need and applying the remedy so far as possible."

The Clothes Bureau

Mrs. Stuart Brown, one of several Springfield women present, told of the meetings of the case committee in Springfield. This was organized after Miss Bergen had taken up her work in the capital city. Cases which come before the committee are investigated with painstaking care, the effort being along the lines suggested by Miss Bergen—that is, for the purpose of getting at the causes, and if possible, applying remedies which will mean permanent relief. All cases which come before the weekly meetings of the committee are not always disposed of at the time, but are continued as investigation work may require.

Mrs. Logan Hay has charge of the clothes bureau in the consolidated Springfield work and told of the methods followed. It has been found that Springfield people are glad to have some common agency where they can send clothing with the knowledge that it will be given where relief is needed. One plan followed in securing clothing has been in connection with the Woman's club, each member pledging to furnish at least two garments during the year.

Mrs. Reid gave the impressions of the Jacksonville women who attended the meeting of the Springfield committee recently. Referring to local conditions, the chairman expressed the belief that a large percentage of the cases of destitution in Jacksonville come from illness. When the father of a family is sick and unable to work then suffering is almost certain to follow. The meeting was the more profitable from the fact that it was so informal that discussion was general. Among those who asked questions or who otherwise took part in the discussion were Capt. Heggum of the Salvation Army, Dean F. S. Hayden, Mrs. E. P. Cleary, Mrs. Thomas Worthington, H. A. Perrin superintendent of schools; Miss Well-er, Prof. H. V. Stearns.

Mr. Magill to Make Address

Announcement was made by Mrs. Reid with reference to the loan chest and the children's supply department which are under the supervision of the social service department of the Woman's club and gifts are requested. Any persons who wish to aid in this work may send the articles to the Associated Charities office or to the free clinic in the open air school. Announcement was made that at an early date an open evening meeting of the Woman's club will be held, together with the Associated Charities, when an address will be made by H. A. Magill, superintendent of the Springfield schools, on a subject similar to that discussed yesterday. It was noteworthy that at the gathering yesterday, including churches, twenty-three organizations were represented. It is thought that a good beginning has been made to ward united relief work in this city.

"If you knew that your boy with eyes so blue,

With manly tread and heart so true,

Should enter yonder bar-room bright,

And stain his soul in one wild night.

What would you do then, what would you do?"

"If you knew that your girl with silken hair—

With winsome way and face so fair,

By felon drink at last were seen

To follow the steps of Magdalene,

What would you do then, what would you do?"

"If you knew that your wife through weary years,

Should drown her bitter grief in tears,

Because her boy of tender care,

Was lured to death by liquor's snare,

What would you do then, what would you do?"

"But you know somebody's boy must lie

In drunken stupor and must die;

Some girl go wrong in tender years,

Somebody's wife must sob in tears,

What will you do then, what will you do?"

Will the national constitutional prohibition amendment, if passed at Washington, stand much chance of being ratified in Illinois if the legislative body listen oftener to the sound made by the distillery wheels and the grinding of brewery mash tubs, or the cracking of the whip of corrupt political methods?

ILLINOIS MEN HAD BIG TIME IN DECATUR

Special Train Carried Nearly Three Hundred From This City—Others Went From Springfield—Rooters Not Downcast Over Defeat.

Illinois College and Jacksonville did themselves proud Saturday when nearly 300 boarded the special train for Decatur to witness the Millikin-Ilinois football game. To be exact, there were exactly 278 tickets sold. The train left the Wabash station immediately after the regular train which was due to leave at 8:28 a. m. The regular was late and the special was then compelled to wait for the west bound train due here at 7:15 which also was late.

Despite this wait the train, made good time and with the exception of the stop at Springfield where a number of former Illinois men boarded the special no stops were made.

When the train arrived at Decatur a number of Illinois students were waiting there. A parade was formed and everybody marched. The parade was an imposing one, the rooters marching four abreast with the band at the head. Near the business section the Illinois delegation was met by the Millikin parade which stood at attention until the parade passed. The Millikin parade was a feature with several good floats and a large number of automobiles.

When the Illinois crowd reached the Hotel Orlando which was headquarters, they lined up in front and the college yell were given with a vim under the direction of yell leader James Capps. The band then marched into the lobby playing a stirring air, where the crowd disbanded.

At 1:15 they again assembled and with the band in front marched to Millikin field. Here a snake dance was given which was greeted with cheers by the Millikin rooters.

On the return trip the train did not leave Decatur until after 7 o'clock but good time was made and arrival here was at 9:30 o'clock. The Illinois lost she was not disgraced and the crowd on the train returning gave the various yells and sang the college songs and cheered the men. A delegation of Illinois students were at the station who gave cheers for the team.

It was perhaps the greatest crowd that ever witnessed a game at the center. It was something for Millikin and also for Illinois. Manager Fred Blum said there was at the least 450 Illinois students present.

Speaking of Reinald Werrenrath's concert in New York, The Tribune said:

"Few recitals of the season have been so altogether enjoyable as the one given last night in Aeolian Hall by Reinald Werrenrath. Mr. Werrenrath is a singer who is today in the very first rank of American concert artists and his recital last night put him a peg ahead of the position he has already attained. His voice is one of great natural beauty, luscious in quality, uniform throughout its range, freely produced and perfectly controlled. He is a singer who possesses what apparently so few artists dream of today, the art of song—Many a singer on the concert and operatic stage would do well to attend a recital by Mr. Werrenrath. They would learn much which they do not know now."

Mr. Werrenrath comes to the Grand Wednesday.

COLLEGE OF MUSIC

Owing to the Violin and Piano Sonata evening, on Thursday, there was no pupil's recital in the College of Music. Next Thursday there will be a recital by the intermediate students. The Violin and Piano Sonata evening was a great success. There was a large and enthusiastic audience in attendance and the program was greatly enjoyed by all. The second quarter begins November 15 and indications point toward an increased enrollment at that time. The music at Centenary church this year is being furnished by a sextette, five of whom are pupils from the College of Music. They are Misses Kathryn Falkenstein, Grace Davis, soprano, and Misses Helen Horner and Winifred Sale, contralto, and Mr. James Gayette, tenor. Their ensemble is giving great satisfaction to the people of the church.

Interest in the ensemble class at the Woman's College is growing. The class will give a concert in the near future. The program will be an interesting and diversified one. There was a goodly attendance at Mr. Stearns' Vesper Organ recital on Sunday, November 5th. These Vesper recitals are steadily growing in favor and arousing a great deal of interest among music lovers in Jacksonville. The next will be in December, at which time the bulk of the program will consist of Christmas Carols sung by the Madrigal Club, together with solos from Mrs. Hammann and Miss Lazelle. Mr. Stearns will assist with one or two numbers on the organ.

AN HONOR TO MATT

STAR POST G. A. R. State Commander W. C. Calhoun of the Grand Army has appointed on his staff as aide de camp L. Goheen and W. J. Moore. He evidently had not heard of the death of Mr. Moore, which occurred a few months ago, and will probably name some other person instead.

NEW COMMISSIONER BEGINS DUTIES THIS WEEK

Other County Officers Will Give Bond and Commence Filling Positions Monday, December 4.

The official canvass of votes for county officers now having been made, Charles Magill, recently elected county commissioner, will enter upon his duties just as soon as he qualifies. This he expects to do the coming week. With the county commissioner's office the law provides that a commissioner shall serve until his successor is elected and qualified. The other county officers elected assume their duties the first Monday in December, which this year will be Monday, December 4. Carl Robinson, state's attorney-elect; C. W. Boston, circuit clerk-elect, and Charles A. Rose, coroner-elect, are all required to give bond in addition to taking the oath of office. This latter formality is gone thru in the office of the county clerk, where the required sureties are also placed on record.

CIRCUIT COURT WILL CONVENE MONDAY

Judge Creighton Will Preside During November Term—Case Set For Opening Day—Grand Jury Will Be Organized.

Monday will be the opening day of the November term of the Morgan county circuit court and Judge Creighton will preside. Ten o'clock is the hour for convening and it is very probable that Judge Creighton will be here in plenty of time to open court just at that hour, as it is his desire to have the business of the term pushed forward as rapidly as possible. The grand jury will be organized and charged by the court and the trial of chancery cases will begin.

The docket fixed for the first day are:

Jacksonville Railway company vs. James P. Ball, injunction, motion to dismiss temporary injunction.

Sallie J. Orear vs. Farmers State Bank & Trust company et al., bill in chancery.

GOETHALS WILL PASS INTO RETIRED LIST

Governor of Panama Canal Zone Will Retire After Forty Years of Government Service.

Washington, Nov. 11.—Major General George W. Goethals, governor of the Panama canal zone, will pass into the retired list of the army on his own application dating from November 15 next. Army orders today show President Wilson has approved this application for retirement after forty years service.

The order of retirement affects only General Goethals' military status and does not operate to relieve him from duty as governor of the canal zone, but is preliminary to his retirement. He probably will be succeeded by Lieutenant Colonel Chester Harding, engineer corps, now acting governor.

General Goethals has been selected by President Wilson as chairman of the eight-hour commission which will review the effect of the Adamson law.

"Q. T." CLUB MEETS.

The Q. T. Club met at the home of Miss Dorothy Smith on Caldwell street Saturday afternoon. After the business meeting a social hour was enjoyed, during which refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Lucie Straight on East State street.

LOWDEN WILL REST UNTIL DECEMBER FIRST

Leaves Chicago for Plantation in Arkansas—Receives Few Callers.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—Governor-elect Frank O. Lowden, accompanied by his wife, left Chicago today for his plantation in Arkansas, where he will rest until about December 1. He received but few callers at his hotel today.

Notwithstanding Colonel Lowden's announcement that he will not take a hand in the organization of the new state legislature it is the belief of Republican state leaders that David E. Shanahan of Chicago will have little if any opposition for re-election as speaker of the general assembly.

HUNDREDS QUALIFY FOR NEW COMMISSIONS

POSITIONS IN ARMY RECENTLY CREATED BY CONGRESS.

Object of Officers' Reserve Corps Is to Provide Reservoir Which in Time of War, Will Supply Officers for Regular Army.

Washington, Nov. 11.—Approximately 2,000 men throughout the country have already qualified for commissions in the Officers' Reserve Corps of the army, recently created by congress. The act provides that the corps shall be an unlimited reservoir from which in time of war will be drawn the necessary additional officers for the regular army and those for all volunteer regiments that may be authorized.

Army officials are well pleased with the progress made in this vital step toward adequate national defense. It is expected that within another year nearly 15,000 officers will have been accepted and commissioned, ready for immediate active duty should the need arise.

At the bureau of printing and engraving the commissions for the reserve officers are now being prepared. They will correspond closely to those issued to officers of the regular army and will bear the signature of the president in every case.

The Officers' Reserve Corps, as distinct from the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, also newly created, was designed by congress to furnish within the shortest possible time a great body of men whose ability to lead troops in the field had been tested and approved and who would be under definite obligations to respond instantly to a call to the colors. Every man must pass an examination before a board of army officers, in which his knowledge of military theory and practice is tested. When he has been commissioned, the reserve officer keeps the commander of the military department in which he lives informed of his movements, ready for mobilization.

Reserve officers will be named in grades up to major and are selected for the various staff corps as well as the line. Included among those who have already made application for appointment are many doctors, engineers, telegraph and telephone specialists, railroad engineers, contractors and the like.

The war department has issued regulations governing the enrollment and training of the Officers' Reserve Corps, the Reserve Officers' Training Corps and for the minor schools which will eventually form a feeder to the training corps as the latter will be the main source from which the Reserve Corps itself will be recruited.

Proposals as to regulations to govern the enlisted reserves, also newly created and including provisions for the enrollment of skilled workers in all trades and professions that would be valuable to the army in time of war, are now being prepared. A series of general orders will soon be issued after which the enrollment of the men will begin.

The regulations for the reserve corps provide that any American citizen within the prescribed age limits and physically fit for military duty may apply for a commission. The general heads of the subjects (including dental and veterinary), adjutant general's, judge advocate general's, inspector general's, quartermaster general's engineers, ordnance and signal. Commissions will be issued for five years, but can be renewed until the officer has reached the prescribed maximum age limit for his rank. He will then be discharged unless he shows on examination his fitness for promotion to a higher rank.

Each officer will be liable for 15 days service in each calendar year with troops or under instruction within the military department in which he lives. The periods of training can be extended only with the officer's consent and he will receive the pay and allowance of his grade in the regular army while on training duty.

The regulations provide that no officer on the active list of the regular army or national guard may be commissioned in the reserve corps, although enlisted men in both services may take the examinations.

Knobs has the very winter suit you and his prices are fair.

OPENING OF NEW YORK HORSE SHOW

New York, Nov. 11.—The National Horse Show, the event of the year for patrons of the horse in ring competition, and the first great public function of the season for fashionable New York society, had its formal opening in Madison Square Garden this afternoon, and for a week to come the reign of the horse in the metropolis will be supreme. From every indication the big annual exhibition will be much the same as in the twenty-one years of the show's earlier history, and will meet with the same generous support from wealthy and fashionable patrons with the only difference that this season there will be a little more variety in the character of the ring contests than in former years, and some few additional classes will stir to enthusiasm the horse lovers and horse owners in the boxes and around the tanbark arena. The prize list this year contains 152 classes for horses and ponies of almost every type reared and used in the United States. A total of $39,000 in premiums will be distributed among the successful owners.

Miss Ellen Coultas of Chapin was in the city yesterday.

Speedy and Easy Riding

There's little comfort in most low priced cars. You can't use their speeds. They jostle you—they ride roughly—they don't hold the road.

The $635 Overland is different. It is not only the speediest of low priced cars—

But you can use the full speed of its powerful motor when you need it.

It has long 42-inch, easy riding, shock absorbing cantilever rear springs. In addition the 75 B Overland is a longer car—104-inch wheelbase. And it has 4-inch tires.

Its smoothness and ease of riding at any speed would do justice to a much larger and heavier car.

Come in and let us demonstrate. That's the best kind of proof.

A slight error was made in the item regarding the venerable Mrs. John Sargent voting Tuesday. Taking the item over the telephone the writer understood Mr. Sargent to say that Allison Thompson helped Mrs. Sargent from the buggy to the polls; but the fact was Mr. Thompson sent his wife, daughter and son, Chester, with his automobile and took Mrs. Sargent to the polls and due credit for the kindly act is given at Mr. Sargent's request.

Man With Mouth Old Bullet Wound In Head Tells Queer Story.

Moline, Ill., Nov. 11.—Moline police are investigating the story told by Charles Wilson, found unconscious last night on the streets of Silvis, Ill., with a month's old bullet wound in his head and another in his right breast. Wilson is apparently a Mexican half-breed. He says he was shot in a coal mine in Billings, Mont., and that he was recently released from a hospital there.

Police suspect he has been involved in a hold-up, for his wounds are in such condition that no hospital would ever have released him, it is believed. While he claims to have mined coal, his hands are those of a man who has not performed manual labor. He is from 25 to 30 years old and says he was a chauffeur in Dayton before going west.

Then, on one eventful day, the infant dies. After the child's death, Philip notices unusual activity about the camp, and suspects that Josephine's enemies are near. Tho he knows not who they are, he longs to fight them; but Jean Croisset, Josephine's half-breed protector, who had also been assisting her in her trouble, tells him that he can do nothing but wait for orders from her.

One day, Josephine, who is known throughout the neighborhood for her kindness and love for children, is called to another village to tend a sick child. Jean follows to protect her; Philip trails him with the dogs, and learns that she had been kidnapped by Lang, who, Jean tells him, was responsible for all her troubles. Philip rouses all the honest woodsmen in the neighborhood, who love Josephine for her kindness, and they set out to rescue her. They also enlist the aid of a tribe of Indians in their cause.

After traveling for some time, the rescue party traps the villainous gang in their lair, "Devil's Nest." Here Lang and his men barricaded the doors and windows and prepare for the attack. A terrible battle ensues, and Lang's followers, seeing they are being beaten, try to escape, but find themselves hemmed in. In the midst of the battle Jean is shot, and, knowing he is about to die, calls Philip to his side. He tells him how, a year before, Josephine's mother had fallen into Lang's clutches while her husband was away, and of the birth of the child, which Josephine had claimed as her own, to shield her mother's honor. "The story told," the faithful half-breed dies, with a parting injunction to Philip to kill Lang and destroy the incriminating papers in his possession. In a lull in the fighting Lang tries to escape through a window with Josephine. His action is seen by Philip, who rushes over to protect her. In the struggle which follows, Lang manages to gain the upper hand, and reaches for his knife to end Philip's life. Seeing his danger, Josephine releases the dogs, with a command to kill. As though they knew the sorrow of their mistress, the shaggy beasts leap upon the struggling forms, single out Lang, and greatly mangle his body. Philip tells her that he knows all, and that she need no longer fear for her mother's honor, as he has destroyed the papers. She tells him that she has always loved him, and Philip looks forward to a happy future—in God's country—with the woman of his choice.

"GOD'S COUNTRY AND THE WOMAN"

Great Play Is Coming to Scott's Monday and Tuesday.

Far away, in the timberlands of the north, where the purity of woman is placed above all else, lived Josephine Adare, a kind, honest soul, whose face plainly bore an expression of deep sorrow and anxiety. Up to this—God's own country—came a man, Philip Weyman, to spend a year in that region.

The man meets the woman and falls in love with her. He begs her to confide in him her great sorrow, which he sees she is constantly thinking of, but she tells him that she may not do so. Seeing that he is persistent, and really anxious to help her, she asks him if he would be willing to follow her wherever she goes, doing whatever she asks of him, asking no questions, and with the hope of no reward. Thru the long, bitter northern winter, he travels with her, knowing neither where he is going nor what he is going to do. To aid her plans they are married. She then takes him to the home of her father, John Adare, a rugged woodsman, where she tells him to pose as the father of a baby which she shows him. For a moment his faith in her wavers when he sees the child, but his manhood conquers and he determines to stand by his promise. Thru many tense situations Philip remains true.

BURGLARS VISIT PEORIA WHOLESALE HOUSE

Rob Jobst-Bethard Company of Nearby a Thousand Dollars in Currency.

Peoria, Nov. 11.—Burglars visited the Jobst-Bethard wholesale grocery house this morning and after blowing a fireproof vault and small money safe inside the vault made off with nearly a thousand dollars in currency.

The money was part of the weekly payroll and had been sealed in envelopes ready for distribution. Nothing else was taken, although thousands of dollars worth of checks and stock certificates were handled by the cracksmen in their search for money.

Entrance to the building was gained by means of a ladder put up to a fire escape. The vault was located on the second floor and the raiders worked with apparent ease even cleaning up the mess of their work.

"GOD'S COUNTRY AND THE WOMAN"

Great Play Is Coming to Scott's Monday and Tuesday.

Far away, in the timberlands of the north, where the purity of woman is placed above all else, lived Josephine Adare, a kind, honest soul, whose face plainly bore an expression of deep sorrow and anxiety. Up to this—God's own country—came a man, Philip Weyman, to spend a year in that region.

The man meets the woman and falls in love with her. He begs her to confide in him her great sorrow, which he sees she is constantly thinking of, but she tells him that she may not do so. Seeing that he is persistent, and really anxious to help her, she asks him if he would be willing to follow her wherever she goes, doing whatever she asks of him, asking no questions, and with the hope of no reward. Thru the long, bitter northern winter, he travels with her, knowing neither where he is going nor what he is going to do. To aid her plans they are married. She then takes him to the home of her father, John Adare, a rugged woodsman, where she tells him to pose as the father of a baby which she shows him. For a moment his faith in her wavers when he sees the child, but his manhood conquers and he determines to stand by his promise. Thru many tense situations Philip remains true.

Then, on one eventful day, the infant dies. After the child's death, Philip notices unusual activity about the camp, and suspects that Josephine's enemies are near. Tho he knows not who they are, he longs to fight them; but Jean Croisset, Josephine's half-breed protector, who had also been assisting her in her trouble, tells him that he can do nothing but wait for orders from her.

One day, Josephine, who is known throughout the neighborhood for her kindness and love for children, is called to another village to tend a sick child. Jean follows to protect her; Philip trails him with the dogs, and learns that she had been kidnapped by Lang, who, Jean tells him, was responsible for all her troubles. Philip rouses all the honest woodsmen in the neighborhood, who love Josephine for her kindness, and they set out to rescue her. They also enlist the aid of a tribe of Indians in their cause.

After traveling for some time, the rescue party traps the villainous gang in their lair, "Devil's Nest." Here Lang and his men barricaded the doors and windows and prepare for the attack. A terrible battle ensues, and Lang's followers, seeing they are being beaten, try to escape, but find themselves hemmed in. In the midst of the battle Jean is shot, and, knowing he is about to die, calls Philip to his side. He tells him how, a year before, Josephine's mother had fallen into Lang's clutches while her husband was away, and of the birth of the child, which Josephine had claimed as her own, to shield her mother's honor. "The story told," the faithful half-breed dies, with a parting injunction to Philip to kill Lang and destroy the incriminating papers in his possession. In a lull in the fighting Lang tries to escape through a window with Josephine. His action is seen by Philip, who rushes over to protect her. In the struggle which follows, Lang manages to gain the upper hand, and reaches for his knife to end Philip's life. Seeing his danger, Josephine releases the dogs, with a command to kill. As though they knew the sorrow of their mistress, the shaggy beasts leap upon the struggling forms, single out Lang, and greatly mangle his body. Philip tells her that he knows all, and that she need no longer fear for her mother's honor, as he has destroyed the papers. She tells him that she has always loved him, and Philip looks forward to a happy future—in God's country—with the woman of his choice.

UNCOVER PLOT TO DEFRAUD JAPAN

Secretary of Agriculture of Imperial Japanese Government Asserts Conspiracy Is Shown.

Pittsburg, Nov. 11.—A plot to defraud Japan out of vast sums in duties on shipments to that country has been uncovered in the United States, according to S. Oyama, secretary of the department of agriculture and commerce of the imperial Japanese government.

It is said shipments from this country, particularly from industrial centers, have been greatly undervalued and he is convinced some high officials in Japan are implicated in the alleged tariff frauds as well as Americans.

After an investigation here, Secretary Oyama left today for New York, where he will confer with the collector of that port. Later he expects to go to Canada.

EXPORT SALES HELP

STRENGTHEN WHEAT
Report of Frost Damage in Argentine Also Factor in Saturday's Market—Corn Reaches Record
Figure.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—Big export sales in the United States and heavy frost damage in Argentine have strengthened today the wheat market here. The close although unsettled was 3/4 to 1 1/2 cents net higher, with December at 1.89 and May at 1.93, to 1.93 1/2. Corn gained 2 cents to 2 1/2 cents and oats 1/2 cents to 3/4 cents. In provisions the outcome ranged from 30 cents decline to a rise of 25 cents.

As near as could be ascertained, a million bushels or more of wheat was taken for European shipment, chiefly by way of the gulf of Mexico.
Houses with seaboard connections were active purchasers today of future deliveries of wheat. On the other hand, weak end profit-taking by miscellaneous holders operated at times as a decided offset.

CONSIDER SITES FOR GREAT INSTITUTION

WORLD'S GREATEST SCIENTIFIC PROJECT BEING PLANNED.

Laboratory as Proposed Will Need 100 Acres—Space Must Be Provided for Testing Projectiles, Aero Engines and Similar Devices—Naval Bill Provides $1,000,000.

New York, Nov. 11.—More than fifty sites in many parts of the country for what is expected to become the greatest scientific institution in the world are under consideration by a committee of the Naval Consulting Board, it was stated here today by Thomas Robbins, secretary of the board, in telling of the extended search it is conducting for a place to build its experimental and research laboratory for the development of advanced science in its application to national defense. The committee, of which Thomas A. Edison is chairman, has been conducting its investigation for several weeks. Mr. Robbins said, and will continue the work for some time to come until the most suitable spot has been found.

Mr. Edison has made a number of automobile scouting trips along the coast in the hunt for the site and has suggested several places for examination by the committee. An indication of the character of the work that is occupying the board's attention is shown in Mr. Robbins' statement of the requirements the site for the laboratory must meet.

"The laboratory will need about 100 acres," he said, "in order to provide space for testing projectiles, aero engines and similar devices, in addition to taking care of the large and small buildings for many kinds of work. There will be shops in which almost any kind of manufacturing can be done, from a fuse to a submarine.

"Salt water of good depth must be available in order that ships may come right up to the shops and in order to facilitate submerged work, submarine signalling, and the detection of submarines at a distance.

For experiments in this line the passage of neutral vessels will serve every purpose and therefore the committee looks with favor upon such sites as front upon well travelled waterways.

A Sign of Danger

Dandruff and live hair can't co-exist without TROUBLE.

HERPICIDE

Kills Dandruff Germs

Applications at the below listed shops. Guaranteed by The Herpicide Co. Sold Everywhere.

In order to place our navy safely in the lead the laboratory will develop not only new ideas but new materials and even new scientific principles.

The last naval bill appropriated $1,000,000 for the laboratory and it is expected that half a million more for it will be included in the next bill. The bill provided that the money should be used for research in gun erosion, torpedo motive power, the gyroscope, submarine guns, protection against submarine, torpedo and mine attack, and improvements in submarines, aeroplanes, radiography and other applied sciences used in naval operations. The construction of the plant for such research, its equipment and the compensation of civilian scientific assistants are to be paid for out of the appropriation, but it is expected that the present million dollars already set aside and the half million hoped for next year will be devoted to the site and plant, while money for further equipment and salaries will come out of future annual appropriations.

Of the many sites so far considered by the committee, which consists of Mr. Edison, Frank J. Sprague, J. H. Raskeland, Dr. W. R. Whitney, Lawrence Addicks, and Mr. Robbins, those which they are said to consider among the best adapted to their purpose are at Philadelphia, Annapolis, Washington and Sandy Hook.

The Sandy Hook location was called to the committee's attention by Mr. Edison, following one of his automobile tours, in which he discovered a tract of available land adjacent to the gun proving ground there. The committee made a visit to the spot recently accompanied by Captain George E. Burd, Lieutenant-Commander Paul B. Dungan and Lieutenant Albert Norris, all of the New York Navy Yard, and made a thorough examination of the land. While there they witnessed the testing of a coast defense gun and saw the results of firing a new armor-piercing rifle bullet at an armored railroad car. The bullet, it was recently announced, was able to go through three-quarters of an inch of steel at fifty yards.

In judging of the suitability of the various sites for the laboratory, the following are the main points taken into consideration: location; the owner—whether government or private property; cost of the land; water frontage in feet; depth of water; amount of dredging necessary; whether navigation is impeded by ice; climate; character of neighborhood; secrecy in operation; transportation facilities by land or water; accessibility from Washington; accessibility for civilian scientists; character of labor market; character of material market and availability of other government machinery.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Fanning were guests Sunday of the former's sister, Mrs. Ernest Henry and husband of near Nortonville.

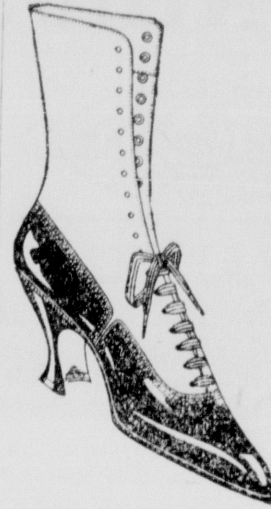

DEAN DAVENPORT SPEAKS OF THE CHICAGO SHOW

Dean Davenport of the University of Illinois reviews the practical usefulness of the International Live Stock Exposition, which will this year be held from December 2 to 9.

"The International Live Stock Exposition, held annually at the Union Stock Yards in Chicago, has one advantage over all other live stock shows on the face of the earth, namely: It is held on the very grounds where thousands of animals are handled in a commercial way every day of the year. This gives an atmosphere to the exposition such as can not be created upon any ground in connection with the ordinary fair or national exposition. When a great collection of pure-bred live stock is brought together at any other point it makes its own atmosphere which is inevitably that of the show ring and of the breeding pen. The purpose for which all of these high-class animals are bred and owned is often lost sight of, especially by the masses of the people who are not themselves experts. Indeed, some of our foremost breeders have, in times past, themselves mistaken the means for the end and animals have been bred primarily for show purposes.

"It is different at the International in Chicago. One has only to look about him to see the purpose for which all this breeding is done, namely, the commercial supply of meat and labor. This gives a healthy atmosphere to the exposition, such as in the end will be felt through the length and breadth of the cattle and horse producing interests of this great country. At no other point have the breeding and butchering interests been so intimately associated. Nowhere else has the production of high-class animals and the final disposition of the consumer been brought so close together. This is why it is that the influence of the exposition is wholly healthy to the live stock interests, whether represented by the breeder or by the consumer. This is why it is that no one, who has the slightest interest in live stock or its production can afford to miss seeing with his own eyes the truly wonderful display that is brought together annually on the grounds of the exposition. Such quarters have never before been provided in this country; such facilities have never before been offered for seeing the animals, either by the casual observer or the one who has given them careful study. This is because the management has been more than liberal, realizing, as few managements do, the real need of a live stock exposition."
